

Дмитро Чорненко

I have experience in designing and implementing scalable UI architectures, developing reusable components, and optimizing front-end performance. I have in-depth knowledge of HTML, CSS/SCSS, JavaScript, TypeScript, and React, and am familiar with Angular and modern state management tools such as RxJS and NgRx.

I write clean, maintainable code and work with designers and backend engineers to build consistent interfaces and stable products. I proactively find and fix technical issues, meet deadlines, and implement improvements in code quality and internal processes.

In my daily work, I use artificial intelligence tools, including Cursor and AI assistants, to speed up development, automate routine tasks, and increase team productivity.
